CALVIN W. PRICE, Editor.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 2, 1917

Each county in the United States is now sending out its quota of young men to constitute the finest and most effective army that was ever gathered together in the history of the world. The United States having made a success of her experiment in democracy, became so powerful and so well poised, and so advantageously placed that when the world went wrong the whole world looked to the United States to right the wrong and put things back into their proper places again. America saw her duty and took her position as a warring nation calmly and confidently. Raising an army was an important part of the new work thrust upon America. We have never been a great believer in fuss and feathers and do not know how much part this has played in raising an army, but in our opinion it has been a very small one. We think that every man unconsciously prepares his mind for any of the horrible eventualities including a certainty of death from the time of his earliest reasoning periods. The common run of men then have been exceptionally silent as the days went by leaving the question of war and all its details to the government. As they hoped that the war clouds would pass away but they never especially feared them. Each stood ready to do what was required of him.

As time passed circumstances shaped themselves so that many young men found it convenient to volunteer and did volunteer, but in the vast majority of cases men realized that the government had decided to make the choice for them and so they waited for the result of the drawing.

One of the most commendable features of the military law is the one that recognizes that America is a country of homes and that at first, at any rate, they will not take a young man who has established and is maintaining a home and that the first to go should be the unattached, unburdened young man whose going will not put out any home fire now burning and who at the same time is at the right age to enjoy the splendid experience that will come to him as a soldier in the United States Army.

Probably there is no experience on earth equal to that of a soldier in the army. No greater satisfaction ever comes to a man than the knowledge that he is under arms in defense of his country in time of war. These men that go from their homes at this time have every reason to be proud and happy over their election. We believe that they will enjoy every day of the time that they are in the service of the nation. They will have that peculiar sense of satisfaction of knowing that they are at the same time performing the highest duty known to the citizen. Therefore, it is of arms we sing.

We would say then to the boys to go on and enjoy the time. There is an old saying that the coward dies a thousand deaths and that may be but as a usual thing men do not think much about danger, one way or the other. We are sorry we are in war but we glory in our strength.

The road commission went out of its road to commend Senator Sutherland upon his vote in Congress and in doing so probably stretched the jurisdiction of the road commission a little farther than was intended.

General Goethals resigned as a ship builder after having fussed with that man Denman for a while. Then the President made Denman resign. The chances are that things will go along a little smoother in the shipbuilding line Denman was a San Francisco bully-raggin attorney with a reputation of being a champion broo breater and a scold. His method soon got on old man Goethal's goat and we were glad to see Denman kicked out.

In regard to planting by the moon, a correspondent writing from a city club in Washington, criticizes our proposition prepare a farmer's calendar based upon the lunar month as compared to the solar month so that the very common error of planting too early might be avoided. He said that he never knew but one man to plant by the moon and that he was a notoriously bad farmer. There are all kinds of ways to plant to the moon, most of which are confined to the signs of the zodiac. He must have been raised among a peculiarly ungodly kind of farmers if he does not know that if you plant when the sign is in the neck a disaster is sure to follow.

We recall the first time that we took the sign of the moon seriously. The old printing office stood right across the road from the wooden hotel. On the roof of the hotel, the lower rows of shingles were cupped up and made an unsightly roof and above that the shingles lay in neat flat orderly rows. An old gentleman came by and said that he had come by when the work started on the roofing of that hotel and had told the builder that if he put on the shingles in the light of the moon they would cup up and make a bad roof. So he stopped the work and waited until the dark of the moon and put on the rest of them. We thought we never had seen such a conclusive demonstration of the power of moon and for some years, sucker like, we pointed to that roof when any skeptics were aere around. But it afterwards appeared, when the shingles were torn off and thrown down on the ground to make way for a new roof that the shingles in the lower row were made of one kind of wood and the shingles in the upper rows of another kind.

Any one who has ever seen the great ocean rise and who believes believes that it is the power of the moon that plucks the waters from the vasty deep and sends it flooding the land for miles in the great tides, will never belittle the power of the moon over the elements. What we propose to do about the planting calendar is scientific and sound. We are too apt to think one May day being like the May day of the year before when as a matter of fact there may be several weeks difference in the radiation of the two days. In the solar calendar the first day of May is exactly the same number of days from the first of January each year. Our calendar would fix May day according to the weather and would indicate the date on which ordinary May day weather might be expected and our May day might fall anywhere from April twentieth to May the tenth. And May day on our calendar would mean the day to plant corn and for that reason we would want to be called early.

We will leave it to any fair minded man to say whether or not the May day of 1917 has run and is still running true to the lunar months, and if it continues it means that frost will come as late in the fall as it did in the spring comparatively. This is written July the twenty-eighth and the katy-dids have not yet given their six weeks' warning of frost though they have been heard earlier than this.

The Irish are holding a meeting at Dublin to decide, if they can, what kind of a government they want. It looks like they might get together on a plan such as the Dominion of Canada has. It is understood that England will let them have Home Rule if the Irish can agree on the details. The trouble about the Irishman is that too often there are against all government. In Londonderry not long since they fined Felix Mulholland twenty shillings for cursing the Pope, the Police, the Army, the Navy the buckels on Constable Kelly's coat, the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Knights of Columbus. Felix considered that he had got his money's worth.

One of the animals that is very plentiful in these woods but which we not often see is the flying squirrel. This squirrel is nocturnal in its habits and that is the reason it is so seldom observed. It floats in the air like a leaf and in this way it is able to make quite a long flight between trees. The line of its flight is downward at an angle until it comes near its place of alighting and then it turns up. We have seen a number of them generally about dusk and they are fond of making their homes in trees close to the house. They are the tamest of all squirrels. We saw one come into the church one night and play around until after the service when we captured it by putting a hat over it on the floor. It showed no sign of fear and the books say they are wonderfully easily tamed.

We had not seen one for some time until the other night when we found that one had gotten into the house. We never could figure out how he got in but about three o'clock in the morning that squirrel deliberately waked up the household to get somebody up to open the screen door. We first heard him jumping against the screens in the windows and the screen door but we were too drowsy to pay much attention to him. We lay there between sleep and awake and saw him climb on top of a dresser and push of a check book that was lying there which made a noise falling on the floor. No attention being paid to that the squirrel made a leap for the bed and landed on us with a thump and jumped quickly to the floor. We turned on the light then and the squirrel crouched in the corner of the room and we noted his big ears and bushy tail. On getting up to open the door the squirrel ran upstairs but when we put the light out he came down without a moment's delay, ran through the hall and out the back door and so home. We always will believe that this squirrel begged us to let him out.

EDRAY DISTRICT HIGH SCHOOL

With the progress of time, training and education many errors are rooted out of the public school system. Today modern educators are agreed that the first four grades of the elementary school are rendering satisfactory results, but that the other four grades, viz. fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth are inefficient and extend course of study over four instead of two years, therefore a new curriculum should be offered to the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades, which is now designated as a junior high school.

To meet this present demand in Edray District the eighth grade will be organized as a junior high school (in part) and will be conducted in the high school building. All parents should be as progressive in forwarding this educational movement as they are in aiding other enterprises which affect their children's welfare. Do not keep your children another year to repeat the same work in the same grade, but advance them by sending them forward and onward.

The pupils who are eligible to enter the junior high school are those who have been legitimately promoted by their teachers to the eighth grade. The following list was compiled from the teachers annual report and these pupils are eligible for admittance:

1. Buckeye school—Ward McNeil, John Rogers, Fred Young, Jesse McNeil, Kate Cochran, Wynona Welford, Goldie McNeil.
2. Beaver Dam—Jesse Moore.
3. Campbelltown—William Ward.
4. West Union—Mamie VanRear, Mary Sheets.
5. Cloverlick—Clifford Iddings, Charles Dorr, Clowney Barnes, Thelma Young, Rose Brock, Anna Gibson.
6. Hannah—Richard Gibson, David Hannah.
7. Poage Lane—Pearl Hannah, Eric McClung, Noble Poage.
8. Yew Glade—Gatha Hamrick.
9. Linwood—Minnie Smith.
10. Mace—Andrew Beale.
11. Edray—Charles Barlow.
12. Stony Bottom—Ralph Geiger, Ellis Tallman, Levia Buzzard.
13. Green Hill—Grey McLaughlin, Garland Gum, L. W. Davis, Dennis Wooddell, Page Davis, Charles Sharp, Urel Wiley, Lantie Sharp, Mamie Jackson.
14. Swago—Lloyd Armstrong, Thrasher Allen.
15. Sittlington—Hunter Adams, Carl Nottingham.
16. Mt. Pleasant—Collett Gay, Clarence Welford.
17. Brady—William Beale, Annie Mace.

Parents are urged to have their children in school on the first Monday—September the third—and to keep them there as regularly as possible. Pupils who are absent not more than three days and do not make more than three tardy marks will be exempt from the examinations of each semester except in music and art. Any inquiry may be sent to the principal—Miss Merrells—in care of Columbia University, New York City.

Alexander F. Mathews, only son of Colonel and Mrs. Mason Mathews, of Lewisburg has recently sailed for France with six other aviators. Mathews entered the aviation corps in March with the rank of lieutenant. For some time he was in training in Miami, Fla. From there he was sent to Austin, Texas, then to Rantoul, Ill. At Rantoul he was selected one of seven men out of a class of 1,200, who were proficient enough to be sent to the front. Colonel and Mrs. Mathews accompanied their son as far as New York. Lewisburg people are very much interested in young Mathews, who has made good as an aviator in so short a time.—Charleston Gazette.
